SCHOOL BOY NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH WHEN TRACTOR CRASHES THROUGH BARN DOORS AND FALLS

Donald Luff, 14, Newtown, Falls to Stop Machine After Driving It Into Second Floor of Uncle's Barn — In Hospital With Badly-Bruised Body

NEWTOWN, Sept. 28—A boy with a day off from school, which he spent upon the farm of his uncle, narrowly escaped being crushed to death late yesterday afternoon.

Donald Luff, 14, son of J. Leonard Luff, 247 S. Lincoln avenue, is in Abington Hospital with a badly-bruised body, but X-rays failed to show any broken bones.

School was closed yesterday while teachers attended institute, and Donald went to the farm of his uncle to spend the day. He got on a big tractor which had been used in digging potatoes in a nearby field and drove it into the lane leading to the barn. J. Hibbs Luff, 20, son of Linford Luff, called to his cousin not to drive into the barn. "I'm all right," shouted back Donald. He then guided the machine up the earthen ramp into the second floor of the barn. Hibbs Luff says that as the lad reached the barn he saw him grab the levers and that he ran to him to aid him in stopping the tractor. The machine continued on across the barn floor and crashed through closed doors on the opposite side and partially dropped outside.

The tractor's fall was halted when a potato-digging attachment became snagged in the floorboards of the left, and the big machine hung vertically along the outside wall of the barn and nosed into a manure spreader on the ground outside.

Luff, falling from the seat, landed on his back and lay unconscious on the ground—the tractor hanging above him. Witnesses said the tractor might have crushed him to death had it fallen upon him.

Like many two-story barns, the farm building has an earthen embankment leading from the ground level to a door on one side of the upstairs loft. On the opposite side is another door, used in hoisting hay into the loft—but this door is 15 feet above the ground.

It was apparent that young Luff, after driving the tractor up the incline into the loft, found himself unable to stop the machine as it lumbered across the floor toward the opposite side. Luff himself struck the ground violently.

The boy's uncle carried him to a lawn, where a physician gave first aid before having him removed to the hospital. The victim is a first-year pupil at Newtown High School.

Members of the family said Donald had not been given permission to operate the tractor.

Release Letten Under $500 Bail for Hearing

At a hearing before Justice of the Peace Maximilian Lawrence last evening, Earl R. Letten, Bristol Terrace II, was released under $500 bail for a further hearing next Monday evening.

Letten, who had been taken into custody early yesterday morning at his home, is claimed to have been the operator of a car which struck and seriously injured Harry C. Marugg, 38, of Magnolia road, shortly after midnight yesterday morning.

Marugg was found injured, lying in the gutter along Beaver Dam Road, with a mirror from an automobile in his hand, and 1½ hours later Bristol Twp. Police Chief Joseph Seader located the car of Letten with mirror broken off. Letten is said to have admitted that a mirror was on his car, and Mrs. Letten, according to police, stated that the Letten car struck "something" but she thought it was another car.

Officials are awaiting outcome of the injuries of Marugg.

A VOTE FOR TRUMAN IS A VOTE FOR LABOR-BOSS DICTATORSHIP!

President Truman has promised to kill off the Taft-Hartley Labor Law if he is re-elected.

Since he can't get Congress to do this—even his fellow Democrats are in favor of the law—what this means is that he will consider re-election a "mandate" for non-enforcement of the statute.

A President takes an oath of office in which he promises to uphold the Constitution and the laws of the land. Mr. Truman was entitled to express his opposition to the Taft-Hartley Bill up to the time when Congress passed it over his veto. After that, under his oath of office, he should have accepted the verdict and yielded to the majority.

Under the circumstances, any promise on his part that the labor-bosses will no longer have to fear the effects on them of this statute brings us perilously close to anarchy. We either have government by law, in which case Congress is supreme on what the law shall be; or we have government by man—one man, Truman—in which case the Constitution, due process of law, and representative republican government have all become jokes.

Mr. Truman made his promise to destroy the Taft-Hartley Act in his opening campaign address at Detroit, Mich. The promise was his part of his deal with the labor-bosses—the handful of politically minded, ambitious labor leaders who are die-hards on the subject of this law. They will support him if he will get rid of the Taft-Hartley law.

There is only a handful of such labor bosses. Most of the rest of the country's labor leaders decided long ago to make the best of the matter, and to say of the Taft-Hartley Act—"Well, it might have been worse!"

It would have been a lot worse, if Mr. Truman had been able to talk down Senator Taft two years ago, and had been successful in getting Congress to give him the power to draft strikers into the army and send them back to work at the bayonet's point.

As for the rank and file of labor, long ago they expressed their support of all of the essential provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act. Nearly all of the union members, being firm believers in good, old-fashioned American democracy, think that the labor movement belongs to the men and women who work for a living—not to self-selected labor bosses; and not to the Communists, either.

SCHOOLS HERE MARK "PENNSYLVANIA WEEK"

Interesting and Varied Programs Are Being Observed By Students

SOME MAKING MAPS

Pupils and teachers are Pennsylvania-conscious this week as are other residents of the State as "Pennsylvania Week" unfolds.

Throughout Bristol borough schools the week is being fittingly observed, and the manners of marking it are interesting and varied. Some pupils are making maps of the state, others gathering clippings and pictures regarding the Keystone state, and win in some school buildings special programs are being outlined for presentation later in the week.

A film with Pennsylvania as the theme was shown in eighth and ninth grade assembly this morning at Bristol high school auditorium. In the high school building faculty members are using special material to emphasize the week; and for some of the classes tentative visits to Bristol industries are being arranged.

Maps of Pennsylvania were made by fourth grade pupils at Wood street school yesterday; and third grade pupils are learning a Pennsylvania song. On Friday there will be an assembly program pertaining to Pennsylvania, and all grades

These young folks spoke in their own way and told how they thought the organization had benefited them.

The presiding officer of the evening was David Landreth, serving in the capacity of chairman of the committee handling the affair. He first presented "Jack" Rosser, who took as his subject the "H-Y"; then Loretta Ennis told of the "Tri-H-Y"; Donald Reiff, "Youth Week"; and Robert Kaizer the "Summer Program."

Rosser told how the "H-Y" club was formed at Bristol high school in 1935, and that meetings are held weekly. There are discussions and sometimes a speaker. Last year two clubs were formed, one for the junior high school and one for the senior high school.

Inspect Equipment At Nurses' "Open House"

Attendance at the "open house" conducted by state nurses at the community house, Dorrance and Cedar streets, yesterday afternoon, was small. But those who paid visits, thus marking Pennsylvania Week, were greeted by three state nurses, Mrs. Frank Lohr, Bristol; Mrs. Grace Hancock, Doylestown; and Miss Bettie Gross, Quakertown, and were given opportunity of inspecting the facilities.

In the room given over to chest clinic work visitors were shown the "view box" used for viewing chest X-rays; the skin testing equipment utilized for determining presence of tuberculosis, and other equipment. It was explained by Mrs. Lohr that following examinations for tuberculosis, patients are referred to a hospital for chest X-rays.

The second room inspected was that of the well baby clinic, where clinic hours are held each Tuesday from 10 a. m. to noon. Hours for the chest clinic are Tuesdays from three to four p. m., and venereal disease clinic, Tuesday from four to five o'clock.

A visitor yesterday was Miss Lucia Chaney, now of Philadelphia, who had for a number of years been located here as state nurse.

Miss Gross has announced "open house" at Richmond Grange Hall, Quakertown, tomorrow at eight p. m. At that time there will be demonstration of physical examinations as given in the schools, with a pupil to be chosen as a subject. Mrs. Hancock has arranged for "open house" at the state clinic, 10 West Oakland avenue, Doylestown, on Thursday from two to four p. m. The three state nurses listed above will serve as hostesses at the two scheduled clinics, as they did yesterday.

Schuman Says Western Powers to Stay In Berlin

Paris—French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman declared firmly in the U. N. Assembly today that the Western Powers will not quit Berlin but will uphold to the United Nations to end the Soviet blockade.

Schuman made his announcement as the United States, Britain and France prepared to submit the Berlin issue to discussion of the Security Council.

The former Premier called the attention of the Assembly that the division of the world into two blocs is the basic cause of the current world tension.

He declared: "Either the United Nations will be universal or will fail."

Discussing the Berlin matter at length, he said: "The Assembly will readily understand that living together in such a way requires a minimum of good will. This we have not found on the part of our Russian partners, and we do not intend either to allow ourselves to be deprived of our rights or abandon populations entrusted to our care."

The French Foreign Minister took the rostrum after Canada's Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King warned that the East-West deadlock is threatening a war against which no nation can defend itself solely with its own resources.

He referred to the awfulness of the atom bomb and declared that it is the right of nations to seek regional defense pacts. In this connection he declared that any scientifically skilled nation eventually will have the atom bomb.

Dr. John H. Chapin Denies Charge

New York—News that he had been charged by the House Un-American Affairs Committee of conspiracy to furnish atomic information to a Russian agent came as a "shock" today to Dr. John H. Chapin. He stated that "I have not conspired to commit espionage. I have not yet read the Thomas Committee's report and their action comes as a shock."

LONG-RANGE FLIER

Among recent changes at the top of the Air Force is the promotion of Lieut. Gen. Curtis E.
LeMay from head man in Europe to commander of the Strategic Air Command, Gen. George C.
Kenney, who has commanded that outfit since its organization in 1946, takes over the Air University at Birmingham, Ala.

At 41, General LeMay is obviously the youthful hot-shot of the U. S. Air Force. Like Kenney, he is not a West Point graduate. In Europe he helped develop the long-range "shuttle-bombing" that enabled a plane to head for a target, drop bombs, and keep on going for a landing at a field in friendly territory far beyond.

It was LeMay's work toward the close of the Pacific War, however, that brought him his greatest fame. In fact his work had much to do with ending the war.
Throughout the late spring and summer of 1945 the Superfortresses of his Twenty-first Bomb Group plastered Japan in mounting fury. Then he became commander of the Twentieth Air Force, and finally chief of staff to General Spaatz, who arrived in late July for the ultimate atomic assault on Japan.

The bombing of Japan from Guam was long range, all right—about 2,000 miles each way, no shuttle runs possible. As Spaatz remarked not long ago, it was a round trip in one day between the tropics and the temperate zone.

But now the air strategy is global in the use of planes based in this country. The B-29 is a long-range airplane, but the range of the B-36 is far greater. With those mighty planes, General Le-May's Strategic Air Command has seen fit to move its headquarters from Maryland to Nebraska in the deep interior of the country.

And the general himself has the responsibility of controlling the air, if necessary, in any part of the world.

Nickel produced from an old mine near Gap, Pennsylvania, was at one time exported to all industrial nations, leading to many of the developments that gave the metal universal use in mechanical arts.

The "Grand Canyon of Pennsylvania," in Harrison State Park, near Wellsboro, has a gorge almost 50 miles long and more than 1,000 feet deep at some points.

A Vote for Truman is A Vote for Labor-Boss Dictatorship!

For the great majority of labor who believe that the unions should be governed by the members, and not someone else, the Taft-Hartley law came as an emancipation proclamation, as a Bill of Rights. Whatever one may read in the papers about what "labor" says, these working people don't propose to let Mr.
Truman, a handful of labor bosses, the Communists, or anyone else, take away from them the rights they have been given under the Taft-Hartley Act.

As to the public in general, it is since the passage of the Taft-Hartley Act that the American people have had their first taste of anything like labor peace during the entire New Deal.

The nation was staggering under strikes and tie-ups before the law was passed, and we've had little labor trouble since. And labor itself has signed the best contracts in all history during the life of this same much-abused "slave labor law."

A vote for Mr. Truman would be a vote to wipe all this peace and progress off the books. It would be a vote to set the handful of die-hard labor bosses and the splinter faction of labor they represent back in the saddle again—bigger than the White House, bigger than Congress, bigger than the whole American people.

A vote for Mr. Truman would be to undo all the progress that has been made in ripping Communists out of control of labor unions. It would change the light from red to green for the Reds, and tell them to go right back to their interrupted job of making American labor the catspaw and tool of Joe Stalin!

If this is something you don't want to see happen, here's what you can do to prevent it. Plan now to go to the polls next November 2, and to vote STRAIGHT REPUBLICAN.

You can vote for all Republican candidates, from Tom Dewey down the list, and vote also against a return to labor-boss anarchy, by making a single cross, thus:

REPUBLICAN

Inside Your Congress

—o—
National Pattern
Emerging

—by—
SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

The growing refusal of management to bargain with unions whose officers refuse to swear that they are not Communists, shows that a new national pattern in labor-industry relations is emerging.

For some months after the Taft-Hartley law went into effect, on August 22, 1947, various companies and unions temporized with this issue. The unions claimed they were not required to file non-Communist affidavits unless they asked the protection of the law. Otherwise they claimed the right to bargain

collectively as if neither the Wagner Act nor the Taft-Hartley Law had ever been enacted, and in such case, it was no business of anybody whether their officers were Communists.

This position, though possibly on a sound legal basis, is not working out practically. Unions are finding that the "no-business-of-anybody-if-we-are-Communists" attitude is a poor way to make friends and influence people—even their own members.

One of the first employers to take a firm position was Remington Rand. A year ago it asked the United Electrical Workers, CIO, whether it had filed the non-Communist oaths. The union said it was not required to file them.

Remington Rand then asked the National Labor Relations Board
whether it would certify the U-E-W-CIO in the absence of non-Communist affidavits. NLRB ruled last February that U-E-CIO was "ineligible to invoke any of the processes of this Board in protection of any of their members," because it had not filed the non-Communist oaths.
This ruling seemed to make it plain that if the employer would consent to make a deal "under the table" and outside the law, any contract so made would not protect the members of the union, the company, or the public.

So, one of the most useful provisions of the Taft-Hartley Law is proving itself. Unions that refuse to comply are either losing the protection of the law, the sympathy of the public, or are losing members to other unions which do comply with the law.

A number of companies have suffered violent strikes in consequence of their refusal to deal with Red-led unions, but have stood their ground. Among them are the Caterpillar Tractor Company, of Peoria, Illinois; the Bucyrus-Erie Company of Evansville, Indiana; Colt's Manufacturing Company of Hartford, Connecticut, and others. As the Congressional investigations of Communist infiltration in labor unions begin to function, the example first set by Remington Rand takes on the semblance of a new
"national pattern."

In the light of our dangerous international situation, it does not seem likely that the public will punish at the polls those Congressmen and Senators who put into the hands of loyal union members their most potent weapon to rid their unions of disloyal officials.

President Truman's position demanding the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law becomes incomprehensible on any other ground than a play for votes on a low level.

Of 250 Congressmen who voted for the Taft-Hartley Law and who sought renomination, 268 have won.
Of the remaining 12, it cannot be clearly proven that a single one was defeated for this reason alone.

On the other hand, labor leaders claim that no Congressman who voted against the law, has been defeated in a primary.

The public is still to be heard from.

The girl testified he asked her to get in the car and go along to the ice cream store. When she refused, she testified his alleged misconduct occurred. She ran away from the car screaming, into a neighbor's house nearby.

Frank Stangil, who was out on the lawn and heard and saw the girl run away from the stranger's car, jumped into his own car and pursued the defendant's automobile.
He obtained his license number.

The 25-year-old defendant, who is married and the father of a girl and boy, four and two years old, respectively, admitted that his clothing may have been disarranged,

TWO FEATURES THAT CHARACTERIZE this home as in the French tradition are the full-length shutters, decorative balcony. Moreland G. Smith, Architect

IN THE FRENCH TRADITION

By MARION CLYDE McCARROLL

ere's a house that breathes all the quaint charm of the old French style, while at the same time being designed to afford its owner the convenience and efficiency that's in the tradition of contemporary America.

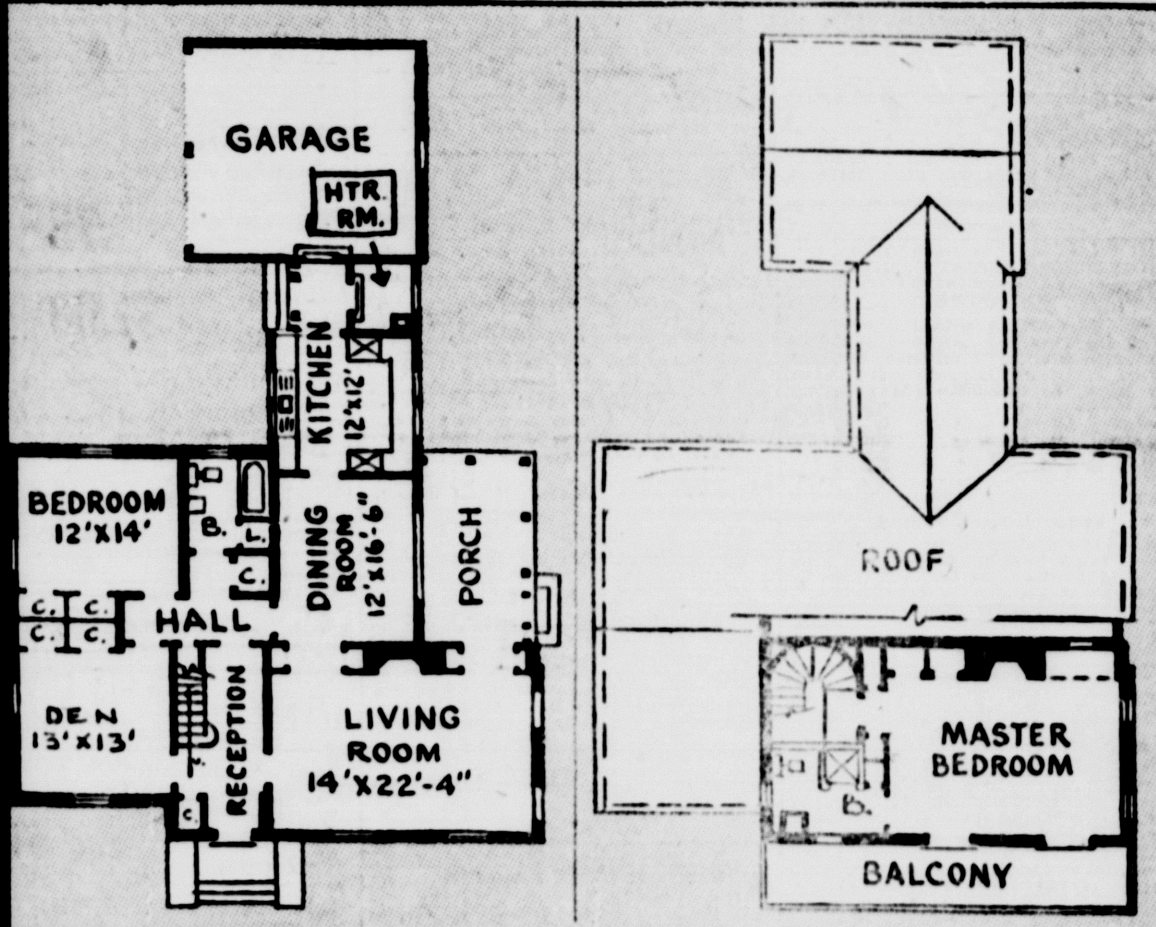

In keeping with the custom so often found in houses of the earlier period, the kitchen is located in its own wing at the back, and this has been contrived to fit in with the present-day vogue for having the kitchen attached to the house, by letting the kitchen act as the passage between the two.

The quaintness of yesterday also appears in the full-length shutters on the front windows, giving the effect of the old-time French doors, although the windows themselves are conventional in size. The decorative wrought iron balcony is another feature characteristically reminiscent of the past.

While the house pictured is of conventional wood construction, it could be reproduced with equal success with an exterior finish of brick or stucco.

Downstairs, there are five rooms, including, besides living room, dining room and kitchen a bedroom and a den. The latter could, of course, be turned into another bedroom if desired. Designed without a cellar, this particular house being located in Alabama, there is a heater room back of the kitchen. If built in a climate where a basement was needed, however, it could be so adapted.

UPSTAIRS, A MASTER BEDROOM and bath are sole occupants of the floor with a second bedroom and bath on the first floor. Convenient downstairs den could readily double at any time as bedroom. From "A Home of Your Own."

Sample House Opened For Public's Inspection

EDGELY, Sept. 28—Countless individuals have visited the "pre-cut" house which has been erected here by R. M. Jayne, Inc., of Croydon, and which is now open for inspection on Edgely avenue, near Route 13.

The house will continue to be open for inspection each day until October 9th, inclusive, the hours being one to four p. m.

The dwelling, which has already been sold, is of frame construction, and measures 32'8"x24'8", with 12'x10' breeze-way and 12'x20' garage added.

Stepping from the flag-stone and concrete terrace into the living room it is found to be an attractive spot with a triple window at the front, cloak-closet, and brick fireplace. The kitchen, with dining alcove, is finished in pale yellow and blue, complete with stainless steel sink and ample storage closets. Each of two bed-rooms has two windows, one bed-room boasting of two large storage closets, the other of one.

The bath-room is finished in blue monotile, and is attractively decorated in blue and light peach. It is equipped with shower and tub. A laundry chute carries soiled clothing to a point near the laundry tubs in the basement which is full size. The linen closet is located in the hall which connects the living quarters with the bedrooms.

The house has oak flooring throughout. On the second floor, unfinished, is a large room, sufficient in size to make two bed-rooms should this be the desire of the owner.

All windows have patented removable sash, so glass can readily be washed on both sides or screens placed. Weather stripping is aluminum, and the sash stay in place minus weights or balances.

The dwelling has hot-air ducts, and will be heated by gas. The basement has an outside entrance as well as one from inside.

The house is furnished throughout for inspection by the Bristol Home Furnishing Co.

Phillips Mill Exhibit To Be All Invitation Show

NEW HOPE, Sept. 28 — One of Bucks County's main attractions this fall will be the Phillips Mill Art Exhibition, opening on October 1st.

The exhibit, featuring the work of prominent local artists, is an all invitation show, breaking the tradition of previous years when jury shows have been the rule. Daniel Garber, Walter E. Baum, George W. Sotter, John Sharp, Harold Bowler, Paul Crosthwaite, Lloyd Ney and Charles Evans are only a few of the well known painters invited to show. Sculptors on the invitation list include Harry Rosin, John Chaffy, Virginia Clarke and Elizabeth S. Barry. Mrs. Barry has been named committee chairman of the sculpture section.

As in the past two years, visitors to the mill will be asked to vote for their favorite painting. Before the show closes on October 31, ballots will be counted and the name of the winning canvas announced.

This fall, the Phillips Mill Association arranged special programs of interest to schools, women's clubs and other groups. Every effort will be made to encourage schools to attend the exhibit, and informal, instructive gallery talks have been planned for their benefit.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Samuel Gaskell
Pastor
Tullytown Methodist Church

"Do you know the world is dying for a little bit of love?" So much pride, selfishness, cruelty, but very little kindness! Lord, give us the love that is patient and kind. The love that knows no jealousy, makes no parade of itself; gives itself no airs; is never rude, never selfish, never irritated, never resentful. Impart to us this essential and eternal attribute: "For faith will vanish into sight, and hope be emptied in delight; But love in heaven will grow more bright. Therefore give us love." We pray in Jesus' Name. Amen.

ST. ANN'S TO MEET STRONG LAMONT TEAM TONIGHT

St. Ann's A. A. will attempt to break into the win column tonight as it meets the strong Lamont C. C. of Philadelphia, on the high school gridiron. Opening kickoff will take place at 8:30 o'clock.

Studded with several stars from Temple University and West Chester State Teachers College, the Lamont team will prove a more formidable foe than Norristown did last week. Norristown, which beat the "Saints", 7-6, had a big team but the backfield is very fast being led by "Mickey" McCaney, of West Chester, and "Jimmy" Walker, formerly of Temple.

Three other college boys will be in the Lamont lineup: Tom Barr, a 200-pound tackle from Temple, Tony Tony, 215 pounds, and Dave Smith, 210 pounds. The latter two hail from West Chester. The left end of the visitors will be "Andy" Westagon, of John Carroll College. The remainder of the lineup will be composed of former players from Northeast and Southern High.

Last season, Lamont scored triumphs over Dalton, Vulpines, Uniform Packers and others and included in its schedule were such teams as Bridgeton Indians, Eddystone, and Magnolia. The latter three beat the Lamont team by one touchdown.

Coach "Jack" Hinkel was a trifle disappointed at his club's showing of last week. Despite the weight advantage of the Norristown team, he felt that his club should have scored at least two more touchdowns, especially on the occasion when they got as far as the four-yard line.

He drilled the players after the Red Roses contest and brushed up on many of the plays. There was entirely too much fumbling in the game, costly fumbles, but some of these were overlooked because of "first game nervousness."

Tonight, the fans will see a determined bunch of Purple and Gold uniformed players who will seek to take out their revenge on the Lamont club.

It is most likely that Coach Hinkel will use the same line that started against the Red Rose with Keys and Lelinski at ends; Walt Keys and Sozio at tackle, Tom Profy and Ted Sak at guards and Art Wilson doing the center work. The backfield will be the choice of "Mickey" Stradling, "Reds" Feole, "Charlie" Pistelli, Moe Caucei, "Bill" Marion, and "Leo" Florelli. Florelli missed last week's contest because of a bad ankle.

State Dept. Assumes The Responsibility of Work

PERKASIE, Sept. 28—Debate on whether the State Highway Department is responsible for maintenance of the entire width of streets included in the State Highway Department system here and in Sellersville, or only for a 16-foot-wide strip, has been settled. State Highway Department maintenance crew, equipped with sweepers, trucks, oil spreaders and rollers, began working on the two principal highway routes in the towns.

In two days the crews resurfaced from curb to curb, approximately eight blocks of streets.

The work was started at the Perkassie borough line on East Walnut street, and continued west on Walnut street to the bridge, and from there on Constitution and Park avenues, Sellersville, to Route 309.

In addition, Main street in the Third Ward from Callowhill street to Walnut street received the same treatment.

The surface was patched and swept before a layer of stone was spread. Oil was applied to the stone and then topped with screening, after which the streets were rolled.

Borough Council, as well as civic groups and individuals, here, for several years had appealed to the department without results.

At the last meeting of borough council, Councilman Reichley reported he had contacted the State Highway Department officials, and at that time received a promise that the work would be started the latter part of September.
